*NORTH COLLINS
CENTRAL SCHOOL
1966*

North Collins, New York

FOREWORD

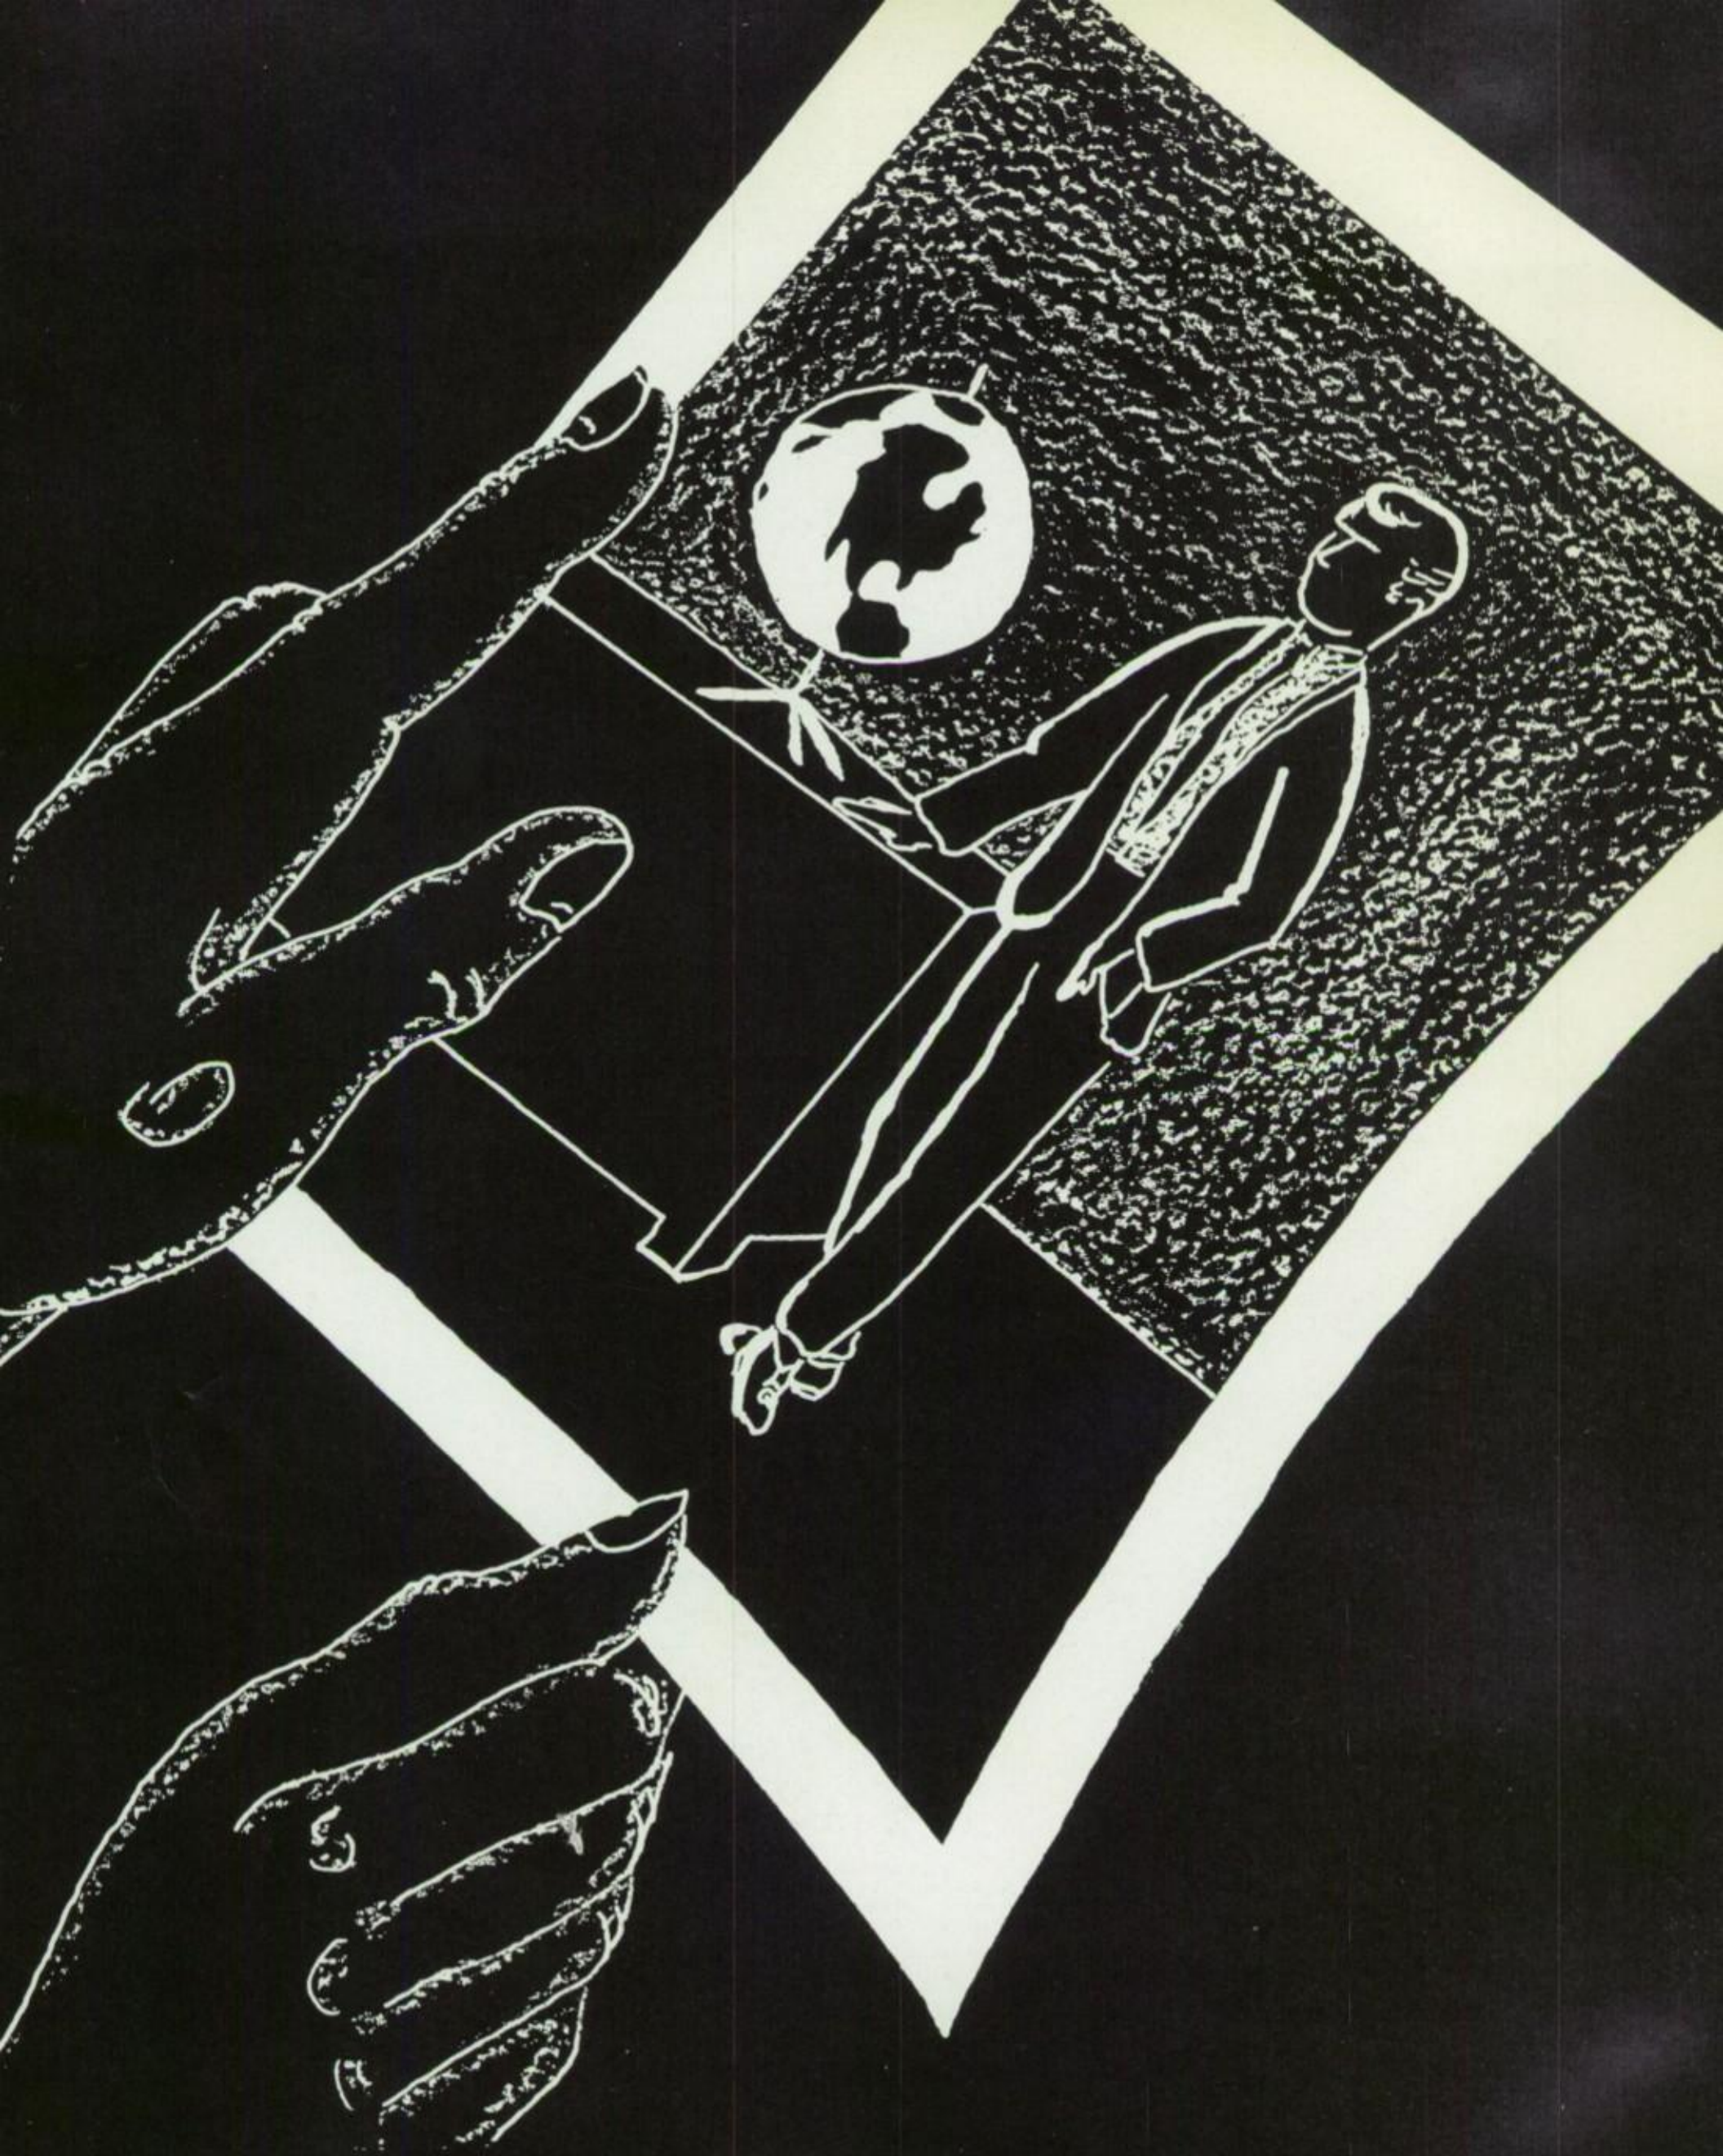

The yearbook staff of 1966 proudly presents the theme "OUR SCRAP BOOK MEMORIES" for this year's Reverie. We have constructed the yearbook in such a way that it will be a book of memories for you to look back on through coming years. It will help bring back memories of yesterday, and remembrances that are dear to us are never forgotten. The following pages of this book will present pictures of you as well as your teachers and classmates. These pictures will create memories that are golden, and like gold, our yearbook memories should be treasured.

THOSE HARD WORKING UNDERCLASSMEN

Dreaming can be fun.

"Hey, where is my shoe?"

"Aw, you carry the projector."

"Smile, you're on Candid Camera."

"Well it was like this . . ."

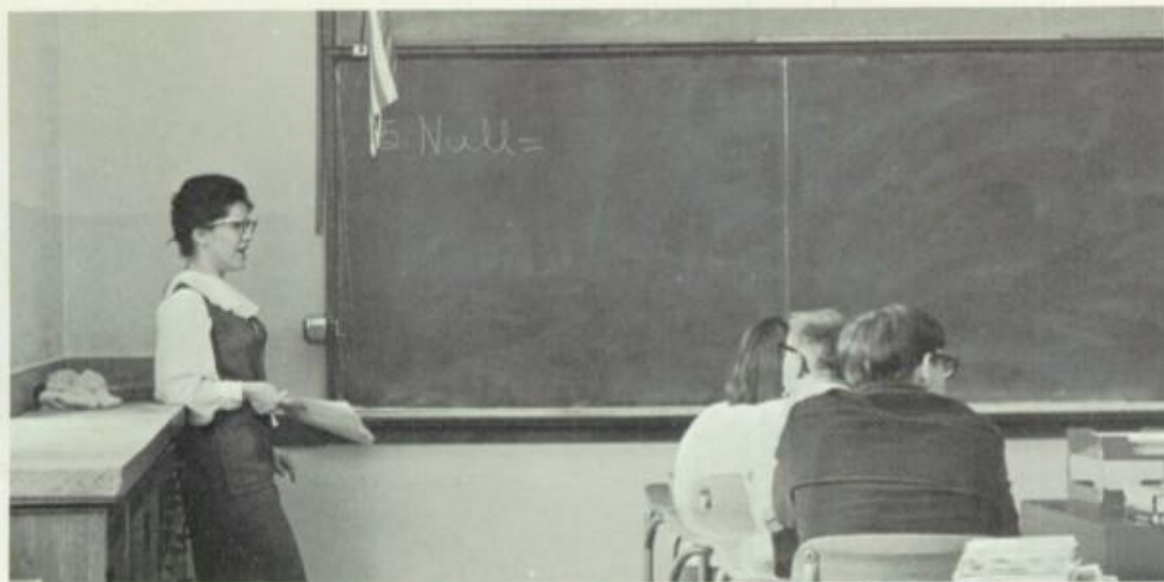

"Hey, who is really buried in Grant's tomb?"

"One and one is two?"

Everyone always pays close attention to the class president.

"Now let me see who is absent."

"Lunch time is a happy time."

"No Teresa, you do it this way."

"I sure wish mom was here to clean up."

"But I would rather do it myself."

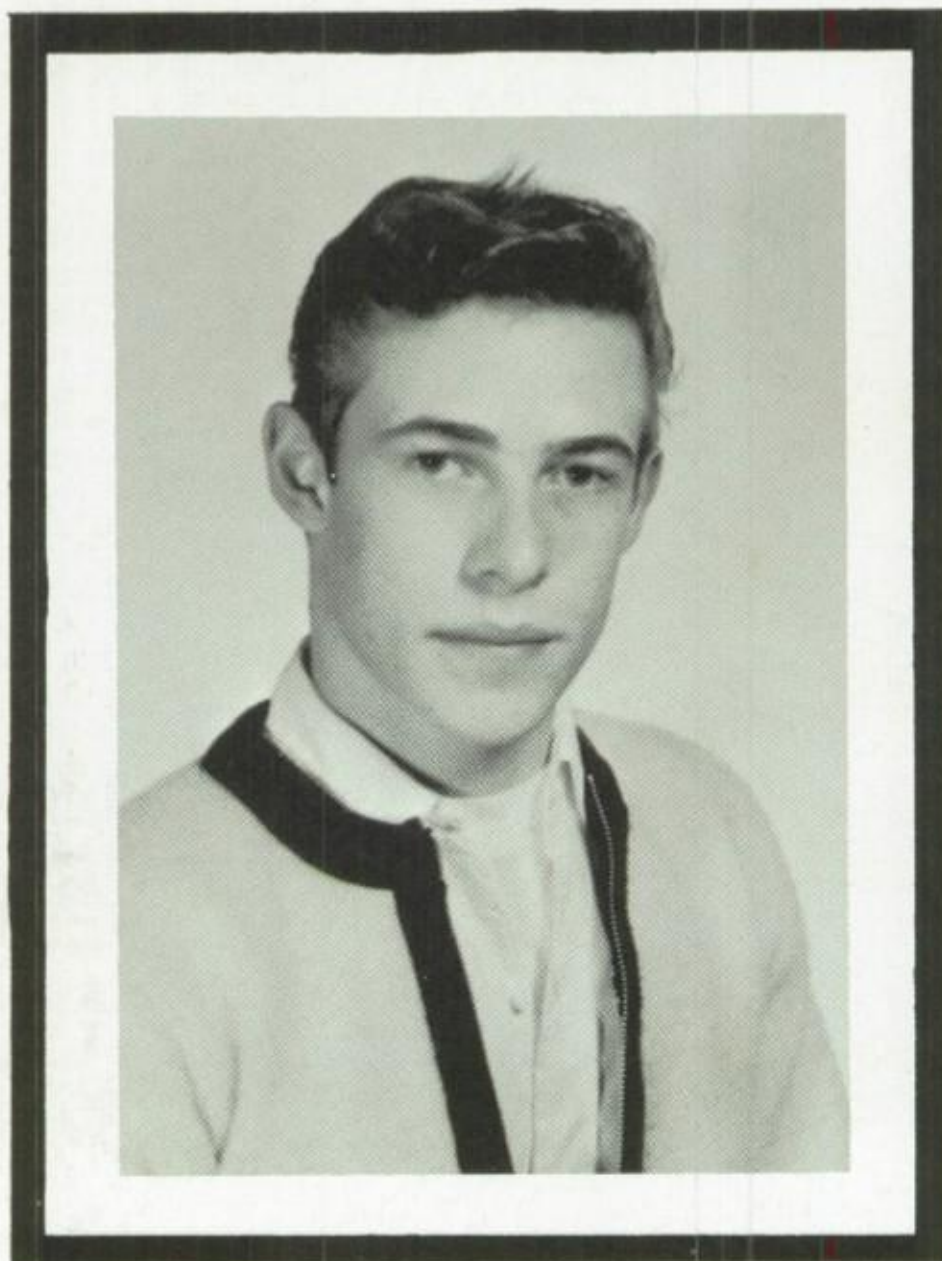

"Sandwiches today, steak tomorrow."

"Not the monkey, the jerk!"

"That's not fair, he jumped!"

"Ha, ha, ha! I knew I would make it."

They played well at times and poor at others, but Coach Andolina is looking forward to next year. This year's team placed third in league play. The seven players that will return for next year gained valuable experience and played better as the year went on.

The varsity baseball team started slowly winning one of four games. Then, behind the hitting of All-Star Mike Loretto and the improved fielding brought about by defensive changes, they closed with a charge. The team won five games in a row, lost a heartbreaker in the last inning and gave champion J. F. Kennedy six innings of grueling competition. They finished second in the E.C.I.C. championship race. They placed third in the Class B playoffs. Their only defeat came at the hands of champion Grand Island. Coach Miller was justifiably proud of the team which returns eight lettermen for the 1966 campaign.
